Fared Shafinury and Tehranosaurus are critically acclaimed as "a musical mosaic and cultural fusion...varies from jazz to indie rock to Hindustani music at its core," offering an unforgettable night of melodic sounds of the setar, santur and the vocal repertoire, known as the radiff, filling every corner of Pauley Ballroom with a modern version of Persian classical music.

Sholi is an indie/ alternative group that originated in Davis, CA. Concepts of memory permeate the record, both lyrically and musically, as songs grapple with perspective and perception. Their music is said to "rattle and spirit the psyche" by pitchfork.com and is describes as "a testament to the human experience as seen through the eyes of musical perfectionists" by Crawdaddy Magazine.
